Underclassmen

As the class of 2011 moves on to a new stage in their lives, the underclassmen must fill the shoes of their successors. Throughout the year, friendships were made, tears were shed, and lives were changed. They've matured together and will face many future endeavors as a whole and as individuals. The class of 2011 has left footprints to fill and the underclassmen will do their best to live up to expectations.

SENIORS

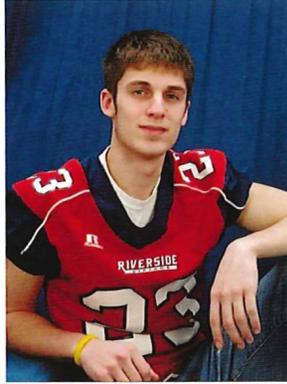

Through the years, we've had our ups and downs. We laughed. We cried. We fought. We yelled. We hugged. This was just a learning experience to help us grow into good people. In the end, we matured and grew. Now, that our journey is through, it's time to pass the torch on to the Class of 2012.

SPORTS

Aside from academics, athletics was a huge part of student life and activities. Our school athletes competed in various sports including soccer, golf, cross country, tennis, football, basketball, track and field, softball, and baseball. Not only did students participate in physical activities, but they also developed friendships through interscholastic competition.

Girls' Tennis

A Perfect Match

For the first time in Riverside's tennis history, the girls' team achieved the goal of becoming Lackawanna League Division III Champions.

The team worked together to improve on their skills, and they became a family. The season was filled with exhausting practices and matches, but everyone kept their heads high and played their hardest.

The Riverside Cross Country Team competed in numerous races and invitationals throughout the season. Varsity races are three miles, while Junior-High races are one and a half miles. However, running is only one piece of cross country. The team also regularly participates in local charitable events. This year the team coordinated Going for Gary, a walk/run to benefit a Riverside student with a rare form of cancer. The team also volunteers at the Steamtown Marathon every year.

Soccer

After years of fighting, soccer finally came to Riverside. The inaugural year for the Riverside Varsity Soccer Team was a learning experience. The co-ed team, which consisted of 22 players ranging from 9th through 12th grades, was coached by Mr. JT Yarem. Wins were hard to come by in a very competitive league due to several key injuries. Two bright moments included ties against Blue Ridge and Mid Valley.

In its first year, the team showed that it is not purely about winning. It is about sportsmanship, teamwork, and most of all, having fun.

Football

Coming into the 2010 season everyone knew we had to step it up. The year couldn't have turned out better. From week one's upset of West Scranton to week sixteen's dream of playing in the state championship game, the determination never ceased. The year was full of blood, sweat, and unfortunately, ended in tears. The team could not be more proud of their accomplishments and the great towns we had behind us in our journey to Hershey. The grueling heat of doubles, the long practices, and the countless number of films and weightlifting all paid off. This team will go down in history. The 2010 Riverside Vikings were a band of brothers; we were family. One beat, One team.

ROAD TO STATES...

WE BLEED RED

The Riverside Vikings had an amazing season, fighting their way to states for the first time in thirteen years. They overcame the odds by putting up 30 points against the undefeated Clairton Bears. No team was capable of even accomplishing a double digit score against them throughout the regular season. We are so proud of our boys!

The Marching Band, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Rish, not only helped to motivate the crowd during football games and pep rallies but also provided entertainment to fans with their field shows. In addition, they participated in band cavalcades (non-competitive performances featuring local bands), local parades (St. Patrick's Day and Memorial Day) and various other community events. This year, drum majors Matt Plishka and Taylor Donahue assisted in the direction of the band.

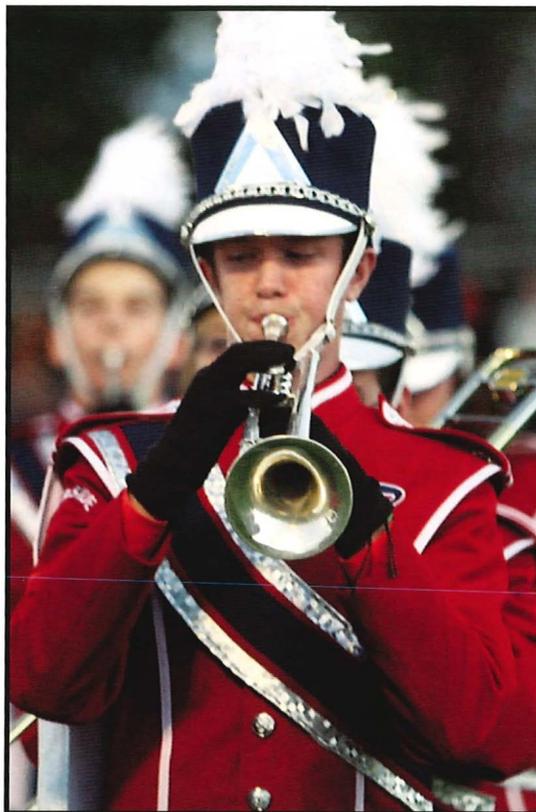

Concert band and jazz band both performed holiday and spring concerts. Concert band had an opportunity to perform at the Riverside elementary schools and jazz band performed at Riverside Alive.

Two members of the concert band, Matt Plishka and Marcy Coleman, were selected to participate in District Band, an assembly of the best high school musicians in the district.

Girls' Basketball

The Lady Vikes are an experienced team led by co-captains Kayla Cavanaugh, Morgann Haduck, Danielle Segilia, and Lisa Sochovka. The season was coming together as the girls finished the first half with a 4-3 record. The second half, where they finished with a 5-2 record, brought many memories. Morgann Haduck scored her 1,000th point against Valley View; Danielle Segilia and Kayla Cavanaugh led the team in a victory over Old Forge; Lisa Sochovka was the leading rebounder in almost every single second half game. Throughout the season, the Lady Vikes were one team who became one family with one mission.

Boys' Basketball

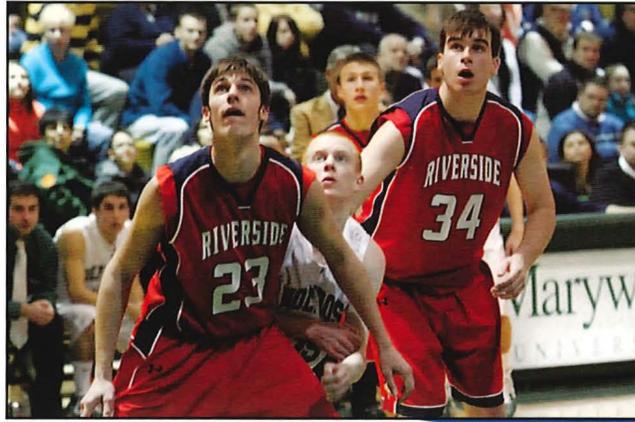

The boys' basketball team had a season worth talking about. Senior captains Tommy Armillay, Kyle McKeel, and Joe Rowe helped lead the team to a 23-6 record for the season. The Vikings clinched a second half championship against Valley View where junior Jerry Kinchel scored his 1000th point. The team won the Lackawanna League Division II Championship by beating Holy Cross and went on to win the PIAA District 2 Class AA Championship (the first time since 1987) after defeating Meyers. They had a victory over Loyalsock in the state playoffs before falling to Communications Tech. The 2011 season was a thrill to watch and showed the community what Riverside sports is all about.

Baseball

This year the team tried to bring back the old-school style of play for which past teams were known. "Blue Collar Success" was the motto we sported on our T's. Determination, pride and grit helped us to achieve our goals, and we experienced great satisfaction from our successes. Nine seniors had been playing ball together since 7th grade and became a family both on and off the field. Baseball doesn't always get the recognition it deserves, but we did our best to represent our communities and to get the public involved. Season highlights included Coach T gracefully diving into the 10x10, Stan and Kincl's verbal disputes, Coach Davis' "long" speeches, WILD THING, "The Ace", and bird-dog. Coach Digwood "moonwalking" at 2nd and Bonda's fence hopping were other season favorites. The season was filled with many memories, and we would not trade the experience for the world. Heyna or no?

Softball

This was an amazing season filled with memories the senior members of the team will never forget. For the first time in nine years, we beat Old Forge not once but twice and brought the Mayor's Trophy to Riverside for the first time. We advanced to the quarterfinals for districts proving that we were a force to be reckoned with. Every girl was an asset to the team. When one girl was down, there was always someone there to pick her up. Through all the games and practices that seemed to never end, we played as a team. No matter where we go or what we do, we will always be a family.

Boys' Tennis

It was a year full of new experiences for both the coach and players alike. Not only was this Coach Thomas' first year as head coach, but only four members remained from the previous season. The combination of hard work by the team and Coach Thomas' teaching abilities brought the boys to a new level of play. It is without a doubt that the continuation of these combined efforts will help the team to grow to become an even better and stronger unit.

Track & Field

Both the boys' and girls' teams had a very successful season. Many records were broken including the 4x1 relay, 200 meter run, pole vault, and 100 hurdles. The girls won their first league meet in several years. The seniors, who were a large part of the program, leave the underclassman with big shoes to fill, not only in their athletic ability but also in their sportsmanship.

CLUBS

School is more than just academics; it also offers us opportunities to participate in clubs which help raise our awareness of important issues in society. Our clubs organize many different fund raisers throughout the year to help others in the community. Many clubs host events and activities for the student body as well as the community. Events include movie nights, food drives, toy drives, and coat drives.

Pep Rallies

Pep rallies are a tradition that students eagerly await. The chance to cheer for the team and participate in games, like the crowd favorite Ships & Sailors, gets everyone excited. This year we had the first ever basketball pep rally to celebrate our boys' basketball team.

Blood Drive

Riverside Student Council, along with the local Red Cross, held its annual Blood Drive on Thursday, March 17th. The blood drive was open to students 16 and over, faculty members, and community members. Of the 104 people who came to give blood, 84 met the criteria and were accepted. An added bonus this year was a free t-shirt to anyone who participated in the drive. Everyone did a great job and as usual the drive was a success.

Senior Picnic

On May 27, the seniors enjoyed the company of friends and good food at the senior picnic. Even the sun made an appearance.

Volleyball All Stars

The annual Volleyball All-Star Game is a spring tradition students look forward to. The two best volleyball teams from gym classes face off in a best of three match. This year the top teams were The Real A-Team and The Volleyball Stars. The games were close, but in the end The Volleyball Stars came out on top.

Prom Fair

On April 13, students throughout Lackawanna County attended the Prom Fair at the Hilton. The theme of this year's prom fair was the dangers of drinking and driving. Students were also presented with information on the dangers of texting while driving. Students played games to show that you don't have to drink to have fun.

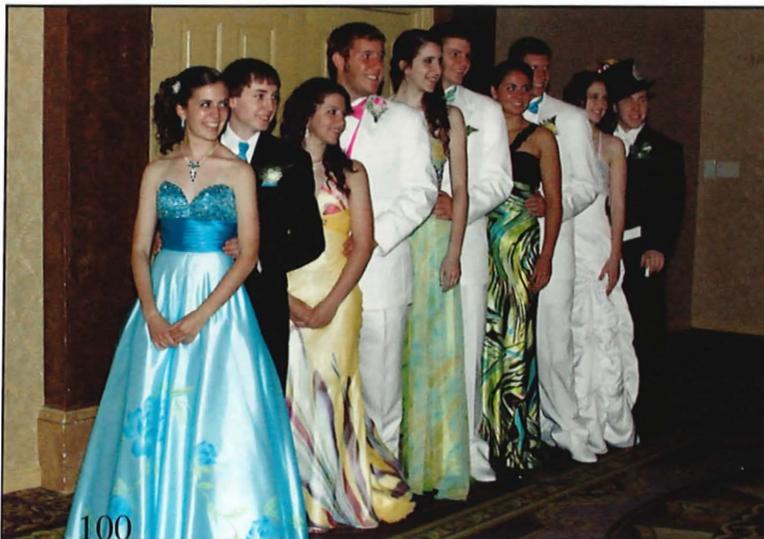

Prom '11

The theme for this year's prom, which was held at the Radisson Hotel in Scranton, was Viva Las Vegas. Everyone enjoyed themselves as they posed for pictures and danced the night away.

Class Day

Class History

Setting: Pancho's at the Shoppes at Montage 2021
Jill Bohenek and Jordan Panek run into each other.

Ji: Hey, do I know you from somewhere?

Jo: Probably from high school. I know you, you're Jill. You were always in the plays.

Ji: Yeah, and you're Jordan.

Jo: That's right, I'm surprised you remember.

Ji: Let's get some food, I'm starved.

Jo: I'm pretty sure that's what Brian Handy said as he reached into his desk in 2nd grade to get a chicken wing to eat during class.

Ji: Haha, I heard that story.

Jo: Elementary school was great. Remember when Morgann Haduck kissed Bernie Dougherty under the table in kindergarten?

Ji: No, I went to Riverside East. But Alyssa Zelsnack wouldn't have appreciated that story.

Jo: Haha true... Then that means you don't remember when Amanda Turoni wouldn't let Morgann Haduck and Taryn Lucas into the Cheetah Girls for the talent show. That was the most drama we had when we were little.

Ji: In 6th grade, Amanda Turoni, Matt Plishka, Tommy Armillay and Heather Derenick were on the daily announcements.

Jo: Mr. Fialko cried that year, because our class was moving up to the high school.

Ji: Remember when Kyle Walsh cried?

Jo: Which Time?

Ji: Skylar Lavage had a history of crying too, especially in gym class.

Jo: Yeah, those two were competitive, along with the rest of the "gym class heroes".

Ji: Like Dylan Bonitz, Ricky Hebden and Joe Rowe...

Jo: There were a few gym class failures too. Like when Mike Scarnato jumped over me into the brick wall.

Ji: And when Drew Tremko ran into the volleyball pole.

Jo: I remember Nick Rossi's love for gym, too.

Ji: I'm surprised his hair never distracted him.

Jo: Speaking of distractions... Do you remember Austin Hurley?

Ji: Chester!? There was never a class without him bringing up his love for tacos. He always knew how to get the teachers off on a tangent.

Jo: He wasn't the only one. There was never a quiet period if you had Stan Maros or Rebekah Kavulich in your class.

Ji: Some kids didn't come to class at all. Alana Hronich and Cassandra Norton might have broken an all-time record for missing school.

Jo: Yeah, and Dom Pica set the record for most times late and most in-school suspensions.

Ji: Ricky Hebden never showed up for class either. We called him "The Phantom" because he would disappear in the middle of class.

Jo: We had a pretty diverse class. Remember the patriotic group? Cody Black, Randy Royce, Matt Gudaitis, and Mik Tatulli...

Ji: They used to salute each other in the hallways at random times.

Jo: Kevin Klima loved America too, but mostly because of the wars.

Ji: He always managed to get 100s on Janesko's tests.

Jo: Yeah. But who didn't get 100s on her tests?

Ji: Andrew Mickavicz... He was too busy obsessing over cats or fighting with Larry Bueche who was also fighting with Robert Petras.

Jo: Those poor guys couldn't get away with anything in that class.

Ji: We did have a few successful pranksters in other classes though.

Jo: Like when Angela Torba, Leah Johnson and Riley Jackson wrote a secret love note to Mr. Pabst freshman year. Bekah Kavulich ended up getting in trouble for that one.

Ji: Another good prank was when Kristen Thomas, the "innocent" Prom Queen, got Miss Lud with a whoopee cushion in study.

o: That was a classic, but my favorite was still from Maura Speicher and Mike Osterstrom, when they prank called Mr. Borthwick during class.

i: That didn't go over very well. They got in pretty big trouble for it.

o: Speaking of trouble... (Skylar Lavage walks in) Oh, hey Skylar!

i: What were we talking about?

o: Borthwick.

i: Oh yeah. He and Bill Loughney would argue for entire classes on end. They're just like each other.

o: Speaking of similarities, Jason Parfitt's impersonations of Mr. Kennedy were perfect.

i: So many good memories from back then. Remember when Anthony Rempe and Maura Speicher would slap each other's butts every day?

o: Yeah, you could swear they were on a sports team or something.

i: Our athletic programs were pretty successful.

o: Yup, the football team went all the way to the State Championship, the boys' basketball team won a District Championship, and the girl's tennis team won their first ever District Championship, and Vanessa Munley went to states for track.

i: The soccer team didn't have a very good season, though.

o: It was their first year, go easy on them.

i: We were a competitive class, even academically.

o: Yeah, Taryn Lucas and Matt Plishka were always fighting for #1 in the class.

i: I heard Taryn ended up winning only because Plishka couldn't spell "threshold" during the Scholastic Bowl.

o: Heather Derenick was smart too; she got an 1800 on the SATs.

i: We were an all-around "beast" class.

o: I remember Taylor Ott being "The Beast" senior year.

i: He had some serious dance moves.

o: Erik Schab pretty much ran the whole school, he thought he had so much skill.

i: Yeah, except when he fell down the steps like he did in 7th grade.

o: Matt Williams flipped his car senior year.

i: I remember Jess Rosati had that "beast" Tahoe.

o: Yeah, Ben Fortuna loved his blazer, too.

i: Ben was always known for that.

o: And Kyle McKeel was always known for his beard.

i: He started growing that in 8th grade.

o: I can't remember what he looked like without it.

i: I don't remember the cafeteria ceiling without the Go-Gurt from John Thubborn, either. No one ever cleaned it.

o: That was a messy situation, just like the time our class got kicked out of the Philadelphia Zoo in 10th grade.

i: For some strange reason, Drew Tremko, Bill Halfpenny, Brandon Romey, Joe Rowe and Matt Williams decided to have a peacock around the zoo.

o: What a bunch of idiots...

i: I think we were allowed back by senior year.

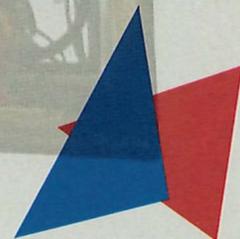

o: Senior year flew...

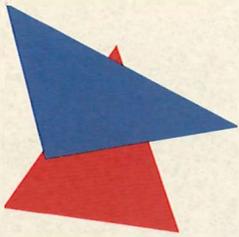

i: I can't believe it has been ten years already. Are you coming to the reunion next month?

o: Yeah, I'll be there.

i: Good, I'll see you there! I have to get back to the weather office, but it was nice seeing you!

o: You, too! See ya!

Prophecy

Scene: 2021 at Wal-Mart

Melinda Keonela is shopping for groceries and drops her wallet on the floor. Vanessa Donatello picks it up and gives it back to Melinda.

V: Melinda Keonela, is that you?!

M: Vanessa Donatello? I haven't seen you since graduation! What have you been up to?!

V: Oh, well, I got married a few years ago, have two beautiful children, and own a business in Scranton. How about you? What have you been up to?

M: I'm working my way up to becoming a doctor. Right now, I'm in the residency program.

V: Wow, that's great! Yeah, I remember a lot of kids wanted to become doctors.

M: Yeah, Taylor Ott, Kyle Walsh, Matt Briskie, Stan Maros, and Alyssa Zelsnack. I heard they're becoming real successful in their fields and making the big digits.

V: Do you know who else is making the big digits... Nick Rossi, Corey Talerico, and BJ Bochicchio. Nick and Corey made it to the NFL playing for the Steelers and BJ plays shortstop in the MLB. They got pretty famous. Even Alex Pucilowski stays in touch with them as a sports reporter for ESPN.

M: Speaking of famous, what about Vanessa Munley? She won gold in pole vaulting in the 2016 Olympics.

V: Yeah, I remember watching that on TV, right after The Price is Right. Did you know that Brandon Romey's the new host?

M: I watched it before. I saw a couple of Riverside kids on the show like Branden Vail, Destiny Longworth, Robert Petras, Alejandro Gomez, and Matt Gleason playing and Matt won a new car!

V: Oh yeah, it was a brand new Toyota. That reminds me, Jolon Richardson became the CEO of Toyota.

M: Wow, that's good. Did you know that Sam Mickavicz and Fernando Pena are on the Taylor Police Force now? They arrested a couple of high-profile criminals and received medals. And Matt Plishka and Mike Scarnato are one of the top lawyers in the country.

V: Wow, that's amazing! Did you get a chance to go that club downtown?

M: The Fist Pump? Yeah, Kristen Thomas is the owner and got me in for free.

V: The last time I was there I ran into Lindsay Brode. She's opening up a new dance studio across the street from Karli Urban's bakery shop called "Legit Pastries", a couple of blocks away Joe Davis owns his own bar, and Dom Pica owns his pretzel store called "Pica's Pretzels."

M: Yeah, I bought cookies the other day from Legit Pastries and ran into Danielle Sovitch and Charlie Clark.

V: Wow, they're still together.

M: Yeah, do you know who moved out of the area?

V: Bethany Baranski lives and travels throughout Europe, Erik Schab photographs medical procedures around the world, Brittany Fenner lives in Germany teaching English, Rebecca Woloszyn's in Africa studying wildlife biology and Dylan Bonitz moved to Alaska as a pharmacist.

M: Kayla Cavanaugh also became a pharmacist and Morgann Haduck. She's still friends with Sam Eiden, Riley Jackson, Lisa Sochovka, and Rebekah Kavulich. They all have families and their kids go to Riverside together.

V: My kids go to the same school. Maura Speicher's the Phys. Ed/Health teacher, Nicole Dalbo's the English teacher, and Tommy Lee Chompranouvong is one of the most popular teachers. Danielle Segilia' the school counselor and all the kids love her.

M: Wow, are there a lot of people who are still friends from Riverside?

V: Yeah, Angela Torba, Jenelle Davis, Leah Johnson, and Katie Taylor are still friends. And Caine Seidel and Erik Stengline, Jess Rosati and Nikki Capp, and Randi Tilberry and Emily Tisdell.

M: Did you hear that Taryn Lucas is running for President? And Autumn Werner's her running mate.

V: Yeah, she's trying to bring our soldiers home from war but it's too late for the people from our high school. It was way too tough for Mike Tatulli, Cody Black, Randy Royce, Matt Gudaitis, and Jason Parfitt.

M: What ever happened to the people in drama and band?

V: Anthony Rempe is a famous stand up comedian and Jillian Bohenek and Mindy Lewis perform on Broadway. As for Larry Bueche and Marcy Coleman, they play for a world known orchestra. What ever happened to that crazy kid Austin Hurley?

M: I heard he's a stunt double for many action movies and has four physical therapists that travel with him: Tommy Armillay, Mike Osterstrom, Joe Rowe, and John Thubborn. He hurt his voice box once and Heather Derenick and Bill Loughney helped him recover. They're speech therapists now.

V: Did you hear about the artsy people?

M: No, what are they doing?

V: Well, Jorge Ariza and Alana Hronich own their own art galleries. Sam Rachko didn't go for art but she still dabbles in it. And Oscar Bonilla-Lopez is a hair stylist. He dyed my hair last week.

M: Wow, your hair looks great! What ever happened to Brian Handy, Kevin Klima, and Kyle McKeel?

V: They created their own video game called War Gods. It's really popular. How about Amanda Turoni, did you hear anything about her?

M: No, what happened to her?

V: Well, I don't know what she does for a living, but I heard she always wears her Miss Viking uniform under her clothes.

M: That's strange. You know what else is weird; Andrew Mickavicz is in the Guinness Book of World Records for owning the most cats known to man.

V: Oh, and Ben Fortuna's in the record book for owning the most blazers.

M: Did you hear that Sean Krieg's the new Bachelor?

V: Yeah, some of the contestants from our class are on it; Ashleigh Mulea, Melissa Evans, Nicole Wagner, Myriah Syrylo, and Joanna Novotka.

M: That's good. Remember Ricky Hebden, what happened to him?

V: He's a male model for Calvin Klein, but I heard he went missing.

M: Wow, a lot of people in our class seem to be living outrageous lives.

V: Yeah, but most of our graduating class are living simpler happy lives. Drew Tremko's my accountant or my business and Jon Gorlesky's my electrician.

M: Justin Martin's an electrician too.

V: Yeah, Bernie Dougherty, Jordan Panek, Matt Williams, Adam Rhodes, and Bill Halfpenny became engineers.

M: Mario Hernandez became a plumber with his partner Luigi and Kayla Connolly became a mortician.

V: Well that's... different.

M: Yeah, so what ever happened to Jess Nelson?

V: She became a computer technologist.

M: Oh, what's that?

V: I don't even know. What ever happened to Jason Gotsch, Paul Lassiter, and Skylar Lavage?

M: They have their own families and coach for their kids' football and baseball teams.

V: Aw, that's cute.

M: Wow, time has really flown by since high school.

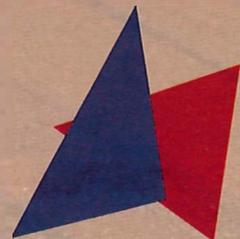

V: I know. I can't believe it.

M: Well, it was nice seeing you again.

V: Yeah, it was nice catching up. Hopefully, we'll see each other soon.

M: That sounds great, bye.

V: Bye.

Salute

Last year was our junior year, we knew we had only one more,
And over the summer, senior year was knocking on our door.
September came, we got prepared,
For our last year, we were excited, yet scared.
It seemed not long ago we were in first grade,
Just starting to learn the tricks of the trade.
Then it finally hit us, one by one,
We were all seniors; our school years were near done.
So we set out for one more year at Riverside,
Just trying to avoid the dreaded senior slide.
We studied real hard and did what we were told,
But now the year's over, how did it unfold?

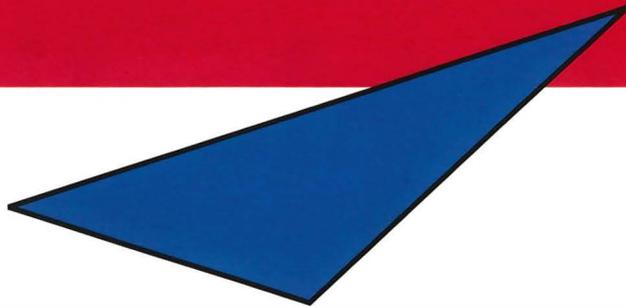

Well, it was a great year for Viking sports,
All the fans came out to show their support.
Golf won their first playoff in 400 years,
And that state football game brought some people to tears.
Softball beat Old Forge for the first time in a while,
And the kids in cross country all ran a country mile.
That basketball run was one for the ages,
And the track team made all the front pages.
Boys tennis, God bless you, at least you tried,
At least you didn't lay down and die.
Girl's tennis, however, had their best season ever,
And baseball kept winning despite the bad weather.
Soccer, it's okay, it was just your first try,
But just like the tennis team, we still love you guys.

As for everything else, Beauty and the Beast was a blast,
It's just too bad this play was our last.
When ski club went to Vermont no one hit a tree,
So that's a success as far as I can see.
I don't think faculty football should have counted at all,
Not with how much Mr. Prall touched the ball.
During football season the band was put to the test,
But just like every other year, "Tequila" was still their best.
Prom was great, a night we won't soon forget,
Some people danced 'til they were covered in sweat.

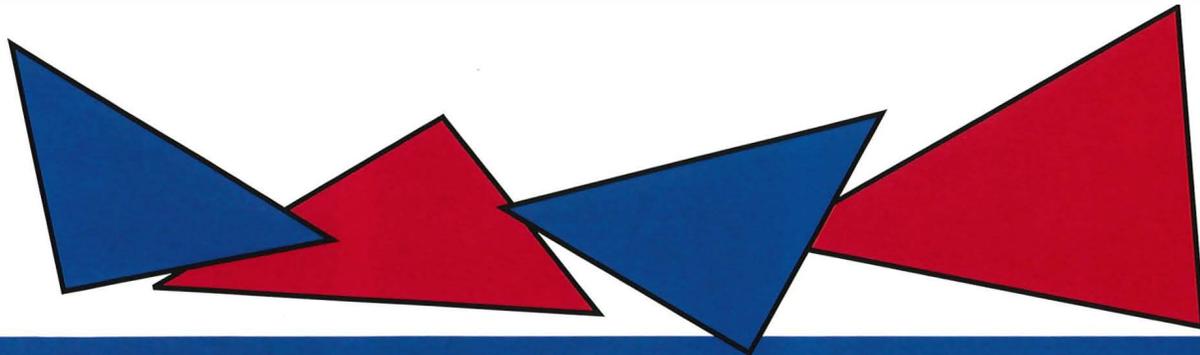

But now it's all over, our school years are done,
But sadly there's no where we can run.
Soon we'll be graduating up on that stage,
As they call out our names, page by page.
Then it will be off to the real world to give Whatever you have, for as long as you live.
And whether you live to be 25 or 107,
Just remember you're a Riverside Viking, class of 2011.

We pray to the Lord our God, that He will look graciously upon all of our Riverside students and will send down into their hearts, minds and mouths the spirit of wisdom, understanding, piety and His fear; that He will illumine them with the light of His knowledge and bestow upon them strength and steadfastness. O Lord, hear us and graciously have mercy.
