The 2015 team of three in cross country had a great season. Junior Bryan Fuentez had a great season by beating his previous times from last year by a couple of minutes. Senior Jordan Osmolia also beat his times from the prior season. Senior Will Davies won the District 2 A Championship and finished 12th in the state. Davies made the All-District team, the All-Regional team and the All-State team. The boys all made great strides and memories that will last a lifetime.

Golf

The 2015 Varsity Golf season kept the momentum of the 2014 season, which ended in a close loss to Forest City in the second round of district playoffs, alive. Coach Bob Coyle's fourth year at the helm started with a thrilling rematch against the team's district rival at Pine Hills. Heading into the season, the 5th ranked Vikings were predicted to be blown out by arguably the best team in the district. Our boys battled Forest City to the last hole of the match and ended up settling for a tie. This tie against a top ranked team set the standard for the rest of the season. The Vikings were underdogs who pulled out crucial wins against some of the best teams in the area. With ties against Forest City, Holy Cross, and Mid Valley, as well as wins against Dunmore, Montrose, and Carbondale the Vikings finished the regular season ranked 3rd. After beating Montrose in the first round of the playoffs, they were set for yet another rematch against Forest City at their home course. The "Battle for Memorial Links" was fought in freezing temperatures with threats of rain and snow. The Vikings fought vehemently but were ultimately defeated.

Looking back on the 2015 season, the Vikings accomplished a lot to be proud of. Juniors Matt Torrisi and Tyler Gaidula along with Senior Captain, Aaron Oustrich had the 3 best records on the team with a combined 34 individual wins. With a 9-0 win against Elk Lake, the players gave Coach Coyle his first shutout in four years. They were only beaten twice the entire year, finishing with a .643 win percentage. At the pre-districts tournament, Matt Torrisi joined 15 other boys from Class AA to make it to the districts tournament. Most of the Vikings were within five strokes and one stroke. Matt Torrisi was selected the 1st team all stars despite missing the regional tournament in a playoff. For Casey Holman, Ryan Morgan, Morgann Williams, Justin Copp, and Aaron Oustrich, the 2015 season was their last, but they are all proud of their efforts.

Coming together during the summer we knew we had one mindset, one goal; we wanted to build upon our last season's late win streak. We knew we had what it took to be champions, and we wanted it. During our practices, we pushed each other to be the best we could be. There were times we fought with each other, but there were more times we had fun. The season came quickly upon us. It felt like we were brothers going into battle always there for each other through thick and thin. Our season didn't start the way we intended. At some points it felt we were the only ones that still had faith. All of a sudden, our game finally clicked and we became a force to be reckoned with. Our defense shut down opposing offenses. Our offense put up dazzling numbers. We had the confidence that we would win every game, something that was missing in years past. We were given the chance to be one of eight teams in the state to end our year on a win and we took full advantage. We won the Eastern Conference Championship. Not only was winning a great feeling, but it gives us stories and memories to remember and share with the ones we love.

This year showcased one of Riverside's youngest marching bands. With only one senior captain and a sophomore as Drum Major, the Riverside Marching Band was primarily comprised of underclassmen. Though we were a young group, we became one of the school's most visible groups by performing at the football games as well as other school and community events. The band, open to all grades (with no audition necessary), performed a classic football field show this year with numbers like 25 or 6 to 4, Build Me Up Buttercup, and Sweet Caroline. Though it has been a learning process for many, and at times it became more of a drama club than an actual band, all members grew to respect one another and excel in their respective instruments. The patient leaders who endured the shenanigans of the young crew were Abby Fairclough (Drum Major), Sazia Nowshin (Percussion Captain), Aggie Miles (Brass Section Leader), and Samantha Labrosky (Wind Section Leader).

Boys' Basketball

In the 2015-16 season the Vikings put together an impressive playoff run in the District 2 AA playoffs. The Vikes knocked off 5th seed Montrose and followed up with a win over 4th seed Mid Valley. The boys came into the playoffs as a 12th seed after a rocky regular season. With hard work and leadership the team came together when it counted and made a run that took the entire area by storm.

Girls' Basketball

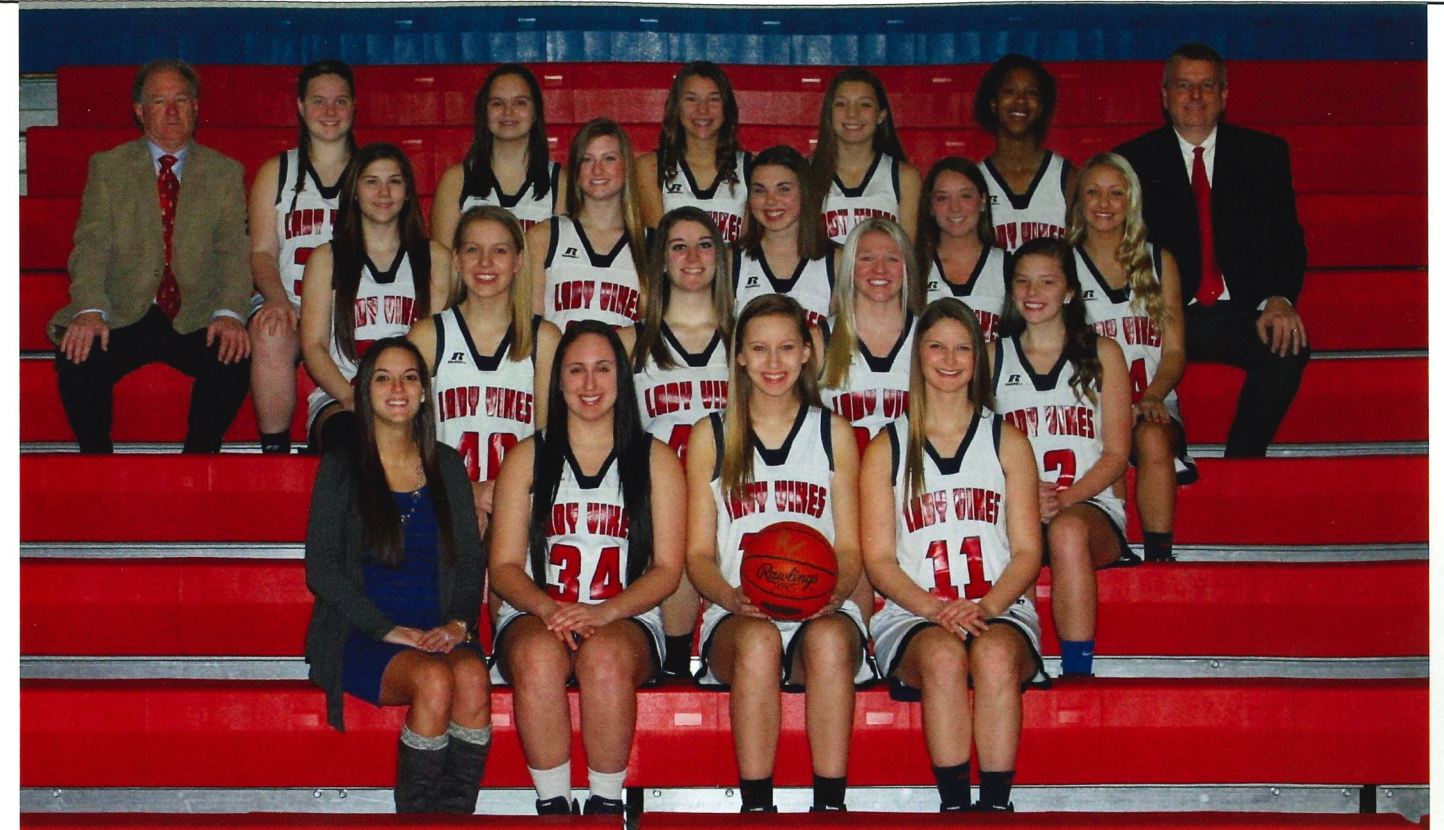

Each year Riverside Lady Vikes make an impressive impact on the AA District 2 girls basketball league. With a big line-up this past season, the girls pulled off an outstanding winning season. With 16 wins, and only 7 losses, varsity battled through even the toughest of games. From endless laughter in the locker room to concerts on the bumpy bus rides home, the team grew closer than we thought was possible.

Seniors, Danielle Powell, McKenzie Haduck, and Rachel Millan.

This year the Riverside Track & Field program had extreme success. The boys' team finished the season with a winning record of 3-2. The boys' team had 5 state qualifiers who competed at Shippensburg. Junior Donnie Clark qualified in the shot put finishing 19th in the state. The 4x400 team of Mikkell Green, Damon Strunk, Casey Holman, and Will Davies finished 19th and broke a 22 year old school record with a time of 3:31.24 seconds. Will Davies also competed in the 400m dash finishing 10th, which broke his own school record with a time of 50.3. The girls' team had a good run finishing the year with a win over Lackawanna Trail.

The 2016 Lady Vikings Softball Team was led by seniors Candice Haas, Hannah Miller, Kacey Orlowski, and Danielle Powell. After 30 years, with an 8-2 season, the softball team earned the Lackawanna League Championship. The Lady Vikes weren't ranked in the pre-season polls and were considered the underdogs of the league. Team adventures, scavenger hunts, endless laughter, hard work and dedication led the Lady Vikes to such a successful season. The Lady Vikes are now recognized as the 2016 Lackawanna League Champions.

The 2016 Varsity Baseball Season was a ride to remember. Being a team loaded with experienced seniors and juniors, we were expected to compete for a league title and district championship. After playing way better than expected against Scranton Prep and Scranton High School in the pre-season and starting out 1-0 in the regular season, the rest of the year looked promising. This coaster took its first dive the second game of the season when we lost to Dunmore 9-0, but it went right back up when we smoked them 9-1 for a second time. We even pulled off a stunning comeback win against Carbondale. The middle of the season was the most difficult and lowest point. We lost 7 out of the next 8 games, so our shot at the league title was unrealistic. After the 7th loss, Coach Sid told us, "No one remembers who won the American League East in 2004, but everyone remembers the Red Sox doing the unthinkable and winning the World Series." This kept us from giving up and calling it a season. We practiced harder and increased our focus on beating Old Forge. We split the series with them, but in the game we won: We scored ten runs in the 5th inning and mercy ruled them. Beating Old Forge was one of the greatest feelings imaginable and a complete confidence booster. Our final regular season record was 5-9, so we headed into play-off season as the 12 seed. We traveled to Wilkes-Barre one Saturday afternoon and played immaculate defense to upset a great Meyers team 2-1. It was the baseball team's first playoff victory in more than 5 years. This win was a massive morale booster and fueled the ride. In the second round of play-offs, we played a home game against Nanticoke. We were losing 4-0 in the 5th inning but scored 5 runs to come back. We ended up winning on a walk off single in the bottom of the seventh. With only one game away from the District II Championship, we were face-to-face with our toughest challenge. We went to Hanover Area as the underdog, and we came up short losing 8-0.

I'm sure this feeling of not making it to the Championship will linger as the seniors end their high school sports careers, but it's not the game that defines us as a team. Each player put in 100% effort into a game, and with class! That is all any coach could ever ask for. We are one of the hardest working teams in Riverside's history for making an incredible run into the playoffs.

Boys' Tennis

In the 2016 spring athletic season, the boys' tennis team fell once again into the shadow of other sports. While softball and baseball teams made playoff pushes and the boys of track journeyed to states, the Viking tennis "stars" quietly went on a two game winning streak. Was theirs a season of great skill and grace on the tennis court? Did they unleash the grunts of past and present professionals while obliterating their opponents with powerful serves and accurate returns? No, not really. But we had a lot of fun. While other Viking athletes earned scholarships, hit walk-off game winners, and broke school records. We goofed off in practice and made friendships that will last beyond the last "match point."

First row: Noah Jennings, Kyle Creedon, Charlie Ponas, Hunter Talipski, and Lucas Frie.
Second row: Nelson Pagoada, Andrew Sheridan, Ron Masewitz, and Aaron Oustrich.

Graduation!

Salute

Anna Klingler

Hello fellow classmates,
Yes, it's finally June!
I can't believe it's over -
After all the times we've been through.

What seemed like years in the moment,
Took a single day to end.
Now it's time for graduation -
A concept I can't comprehend.

Where did the past 6 years go?
It feels like only yesterday,
We filed into Riverside as "middle-schoolers,"
And we are graduates today.

We all came together in Riverside East -
All different as could be.
And now we leave the high school,
In celebrated harmony.

Elementary school was fun while it lasted.
It went by all too fast.

I remember the pointless pink-slip disasters -
All reminders of the past.

Then we left and learned new rules.
Lockers took us six tries to open,
And Mr. Davis told Christmas stories,
Where the snow machine atop the school was broken.

A year later came Miss Lud's science class.
She fainted on the floor,
And smashed her favorite cat cookie jar
While we sat in shock not knowing who to call for.

Never in our years did we think,
That we would be called guinea pigs.
They say there's a 'first for everything' -
Freshman year seemed like it was rigged.

Sophomore year was uneventful,
But semi was a blast.
Singing and dancing, pictures captured,
Treasured moments of our past.

As we made our way through our junior year,
Mr. Borthwick began a new trend -
Wearing plum on Wednesdays,
And we invented "Hamleting" in the end.

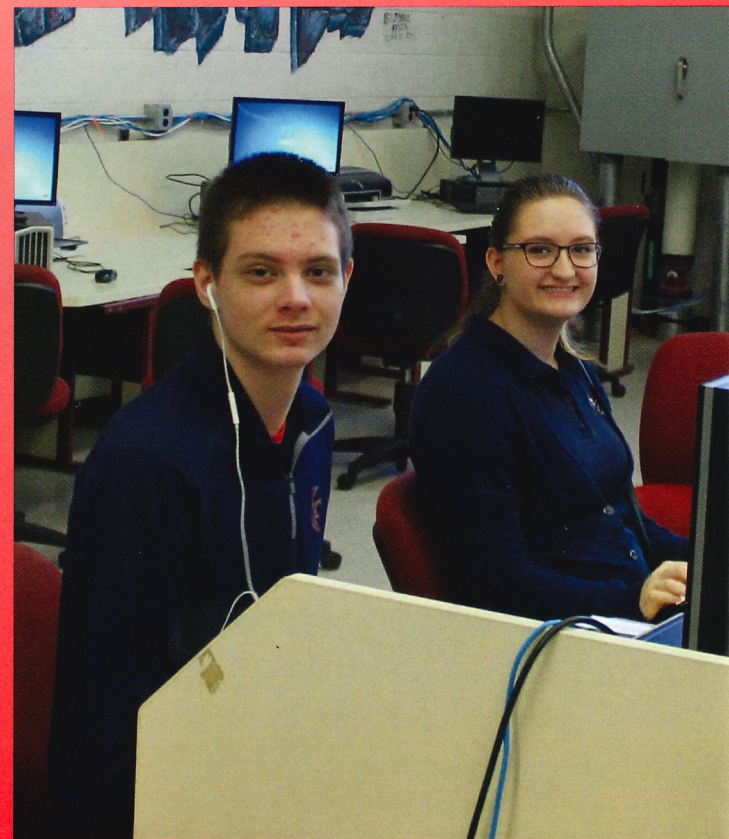

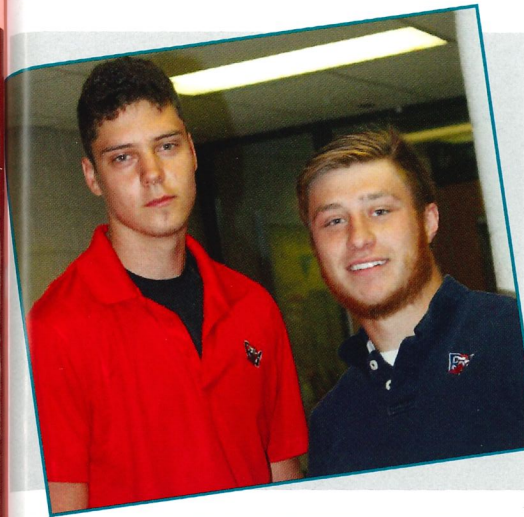

It was fear that our senior year truly evoked,
As stacks of information papers were given out.
Stress and anxiety applying to colleges provoked,
For dates and times to be on a constant lookout.

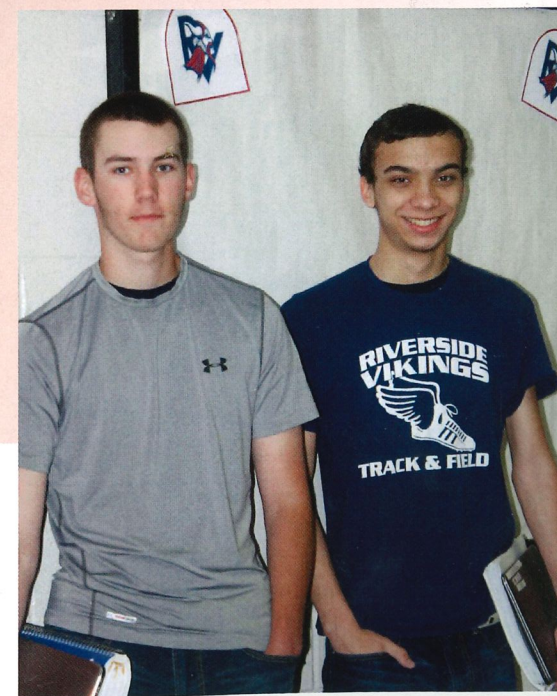

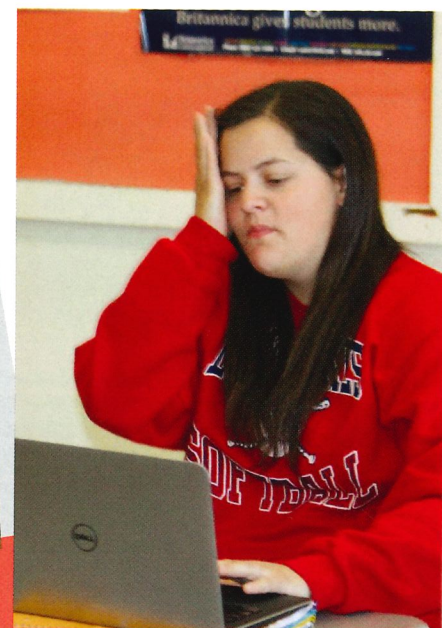

A special thanks to all the teachers
For guiding us as we needed,
And not completely giving up
As the time proceeded.

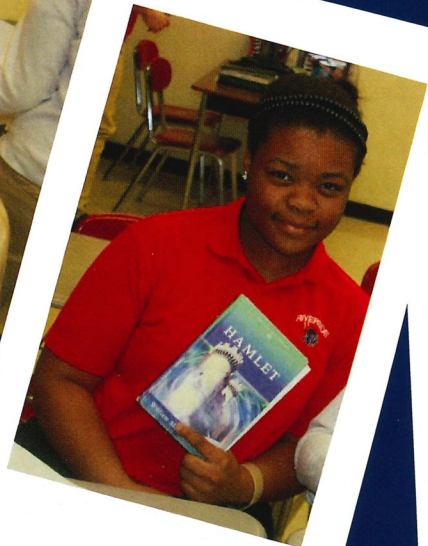

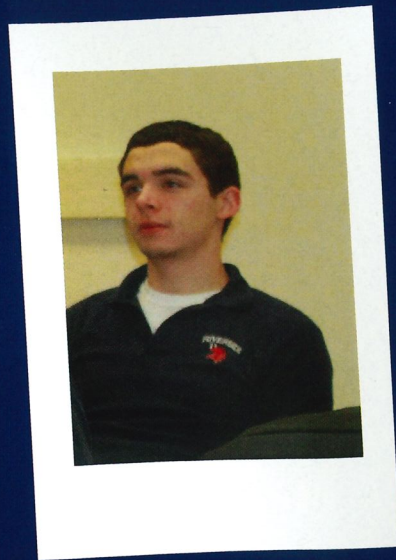

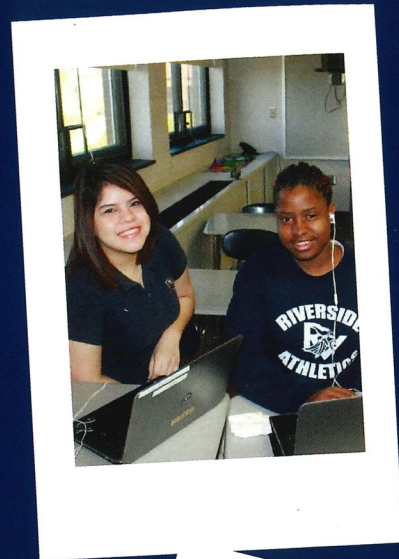

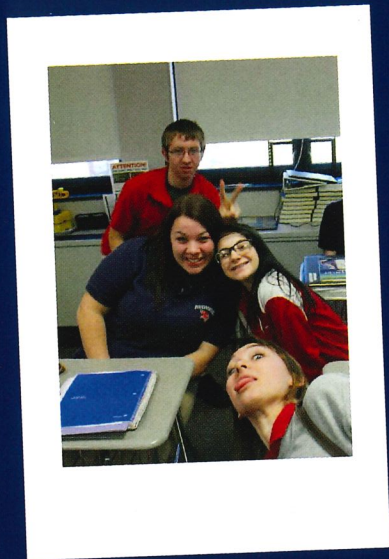

Now, as our final year comes to a close,
We recollect the time well spent.
We might even receive a couple of roses,
As we gather at the graduation event.

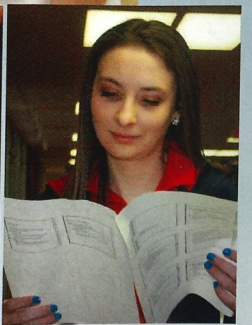

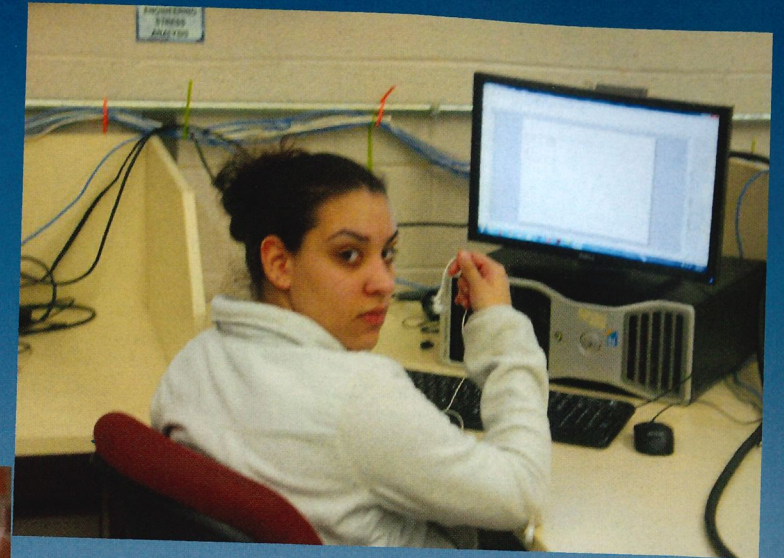

So, Goodbye 'ladies and gentlemen,'
As Mr. Kennedy would say.
And hello to all new things awaiting you,
As you all go off and away.

Prophecy

Britt Rose and Ravyn Caputo

June 18th, 2022 - Ravyn is walking along the Shoppes at Montage when she sees Britt in Panera Bread. She stops in and says...

Ravyn: "Oh my gosh! Britt! I haven't seen you in so long!"

Britt: "Hey! It's been what, 6 years since we graduated together?"

Ravyn: "Yeah, it's been so long! What've you been up to then?"

Britt: "I just received my Master's in Mental Health Counseling. I was also able to enjoy 4 years of college ice hockey, it was amazing! How about you?"

Ravyn: "I'm still working on gaining some more experience as a reporter. Hopefully I make it to Good Morning America some day! I just got back from traveling across the west coast. It was such an amazing experience. I think I might start teaching a few dance classes again at my old studio."

Britt: "That is so cool! I remember when I took dance when I was 3 years old. That was back with McKenzie Haduck, Jaime Thomas and Morgann Williams. I wonder how they're doing nowadays!"

Ravyn: "From when I've heard, McKenzie now co-owns her mom's dance studio, I see t-shirts everywhere with the Haduck's name and "live, love, dance" on the backs! What a catchy motto, and Morgann is making her way into medical school! I think she wants to be a neurosurgeon, and to have Maylynn help her out with billing, but I haven't heard from Jaime lately."

Britt: "I think Jaime's now working on photos for a few major magazines. Looks like photoshopping Borthwick's face onto Chad Kroeger really boosted her career!"

Ravyn: "Oh my gosh I forgot about that! That was soooo funny! I hope she and Kenny are still together!"

Britt: "She texted me the other day about that actually. They're engaged! I hear Kenny is playing baseball professionally now, and come to think of it, so is Matt Amaral.

They were always great players in high school. I wonder how the rest of our senior year class has been. Have you heard from Rachel Millan or Morgan Samsell lately?"

Ravyn: "I just saw that they co-wrote an article that was published in Cosmopolitan. It was amazing!"

Britt: "I saw that article too! Cookie Jackson was a model for it actually. That dress she modeled was stunning, she rocked it!"

Ravyn: "She did! It was amazing. She has her own makeup line now."

Britt: "That is so great for her! I'm sure the palettes are perfectly schemed together."

Ravyn: "Hers always were!"

Britt: "So true! So many people are doing great things for this world. I hear Sazia Nowshin is a great lawyer now."

Ravyn: "I saw an ad for the firm she works at the other day on TV! Hopefully she'll have her own business and she'll be defending a couple of those troublemakers we used to know! It's so nice that she's doing so well."

Britt: "I remember her, Samantha Theriault, Emily Wassel, and Emily Reber were all inseparable. I wonder what they're up to now?"

Ravyn: "I heard Emily Wassel is working in the pharmaceutical industry, and Emily Reber is managing a few of the educational departments at Penn State Main. But I wonder what Sam's doing? I haven't seen her in forever!"

Britt: "I think she's working in the medical field now. Whatever she's doing, I'm sure she's doing it in style! She always had the best fashion sense."

Ravyn: "You know who else did? Vanessa Grzybowski. Her sense of style was on point! I think she owns her own clothing brand now. A few of the teachers were even picking up on her style!"

Britt: "That's so great! I hear she's having Anna Klingler help her with her advertising. She's such a great photographer, and I'm sure her photos today are coming out better than ever!"

Ravyn: "Wow, it's so nice that our senior class could contribute so much to this world. You know, so many people are in the fashion industry from our school. From what I've seen on social media, even more of them are in the culinary industry now."

Britt: "Yeah! Rochelle and Jess are now opening their own bakery. How exciting!"

Ravyn: "I think Jules and Bethany should help them out. They always had a knack for baking. I think they are both finishing culinary school now. I'm so happy for them!"

Britt: "Same here! You know, Bethany and Skye were such great friends. Did you know Skye's now wiring electrical panels for a few major companies out in New York City?"

Ravyn: "I wonder if Ryan Morgan is helping her out. He should be receiving his Master's in Engineering any day now."

Britt: "That's so cool! I remember he was an avid hunter. I wonder what happened to everyone else who hunted from our grade?"

Ravyn: "Mason Hughes was on Survivor, but I guess that episode never aired.

Or maybe we were all too busy watching Jimmy Muth on the Bachelor."

Awkward pause

Britt: Corey Halfpenny posted something the other day about getting an 8-pointer. Pretty good!"

Ravyn: "That's not something I want to hear. I just wrote an article for PETA about the dangers of hunting."

Britt: "I had no idea...oops. We could change the subject then."

Both pause to think of a new topic

Ravyn: "You know, Mia Connell, she cheered at Kutztown and now she's a professional cheerleader for the Philadelphia Eagles!"

Britt: "That's awesome! I hear Amanda Talipski is now teaching part time cheerleading classes too."

Ravyn: "Woah! Nursing and teaching, now that's skill! Did you know Abbey Johnson is helping her out with them?"

Britt: "Wow, it's so good to see them working together to better the artistic community."

Ravyn: "Absolutely! Speaking of the arts, Brittany Fox is now a successful musician. She just played the national anthem at the Railriders game the other day, solo! And Jaleya Cooper performed during halftime! She definitely dedicated that performance to me... They give me goosebumps everytime they sing!"

Britt: "I saw, she did so well! I was at that game and I saw Will Davies there actually. He said he just completed his first semester of Law School. Looks like law enforcement runs in the family. He was also telling me about the track records he set during his college years."

Ravyn: "That's so good for him! You know who else was a great athlete? Definitely him, but also Matt Fallon. I hear he might be coaching football professionally pretty soon!

Looks like that degree in physical therapy led him right to the big leagues."

Britt: "It seems like it does for a lot of people. Anthony is helping Emily Reber out at PSU, but he's managing some of the athletic departments. It looks like management has really popular among our class."

Ravyn: "Yeah! I hear Aaron owns his own sock factory now!"

Britt: "Now Aubre can critique his business and personality in her blog. I hear she's an aspiring journalist. I bet those two still go at it like brother and sister, or even worse, an old married couple!"

Ravyn: "Trust me, they act like one!" You know who else can argue now? Emily Banks and Ron Masewitz. They're working together for a local law firm!"

Britt: "That's awesome! What has Ron's brother been up to?"

Ravyn: "I think he's fishing some unexplored areas up north. He and Jeff are working on catching some new species."

Britt: "I think Kevin should help them out on that one. He's in computer software now. I'm sure he could really help them in creating virtual models of those new species!"

Ravyn: "But remember, those two are going to need some special gear to handle fishing in that weather. Maybe they should hit up Ben Bellucci, he owns the nearby Cabela's now. Brendan and Tony are the two managers there! That is when they're not relaxing down at the pit. Carleen transferred from Ace Hardware to Cabela's a few weeks ago I heard she loves it."

Britt: "They should! I hear Ashlyn rides her horse around the farm nearby."

Ravyn: Remember her senior prom dress? Only she could look that gorgeous in camo! Didn't Bean open up a dog kennel nearby?"

Britt: "I heard he loves dogs, I heard Golden Retrievers are his favorite!"

Both take a pause, reminiscing."

Ravyn: "He probably gets his supplies from Devan at the Tractor Supply Store. But I saw Danielle and Devan riding around in a big yellow truck! Maybe Devan had some inspiration from his fellow classmates. I think he has his own Youtube channel where he videotapes the noises that his truck makes and shares them with fellow truck enthusiasts. I bet Danielle is thrilled over that one. She posts some demonstration videos for hitting and fielding in softball! I think she started at first base at Wilkes!"

Britt: "No way! She was such an amazing athlete in high school. You know who else I passed by? Brandon Caputo, he sells jeans now. I guess they're all working together to make this world more mobile. I saw Steve Williams the other day. He is too; he's a BMW salesman now. It's so good for them. The development of new technology always helps."

Ravyn: "Well Chris Salas is famous in the music industry! The girls were going nuts for the new "Drake." He also became an entrepreneur with his newfound fame. Maybe he could add Kaitlin Gnaill as a partner, she developed a new calendar app to keep high school students more organized!"

Britt: "I saw that! He should ask Becca to help him organize his documents and write out letters to businesses. I think she's developing a brand new font inspired by her handwriting."

Ravyn: "That's so good to hear! She always had the nicest handwriting."

Britt: "Definitely better than some people's. Especially doctors."

Ravyn: "Oh speaking of, did you know Melanie McDonald, Kayla Mickavicz, and Antoinette Lovelace just received their Master's in Nursing? Turns out they're back home and interning around the area. They're taking care of sick infants."

Britt: "Just think, when they're taken care of, and they're well enough to start school, they'll be able to learn from Cyrena Erfman. She's a local math teacher now."

Ravyn: "Good for her! She saved my butt during Trig and Calculus in high school. Without her I might still be sitting in Mr. Pabst class."

Britt: "I know right! She was a smart cookie."

Ravyn: "I would say so is Casey Holman, he lives by pretending he's Blake Griffin, and the sad part is...people actually believe him. I can't say that with a straight face."

Britt: "No worries. I can't either."

Both take a pause

Ravyn: "Did you hear that Joe Austin is dropping his new mixtape?"

Britt: "Yes, I did. I wonder how Chris Kerrigan's rap career is going too. Now that he's out of the military, I think he's getting more help in creating a name for himself."

Ravyn: "You know, Mikkell's also creating a name for himself. Not in the music industry, but in following the footsteps of Coach Prall. He just coached King's team to a championship meet this past track season. They competed against Tucker's team, so the pressure was really on there."

Britt: "You know who really created a name for himself? Joey Petrucci. He's now the King of Kmart. Looks like being elected prom king really moved him up in the world."

Ravyn: "If it's any consolation, Jordan Osmolia is now the face of Subway. Well, manager of the one in Moosic, but I guess "King of Subway" looks better on his resume."

Britt: "Very true. I hear major companies really like seeing that title nowadays."

Ravyn: "Even small companies too. I heard David Coolbaugh starting working at a tattoo parlor. I think he was in charge of the earring center of it. I think he wants every guy to rock the diamond studs like he did back in the day."

Britt: "So many people are taking over so much. Did you know that Shannon Rodriguez took over Dunkin Donuts?"

Ravyn: "Yes! It's so good to see her contributing to the food industry. Sergio too, since he still works there. But after going to Ohio, he wants to further his career in the automotive industry."

Britt: "I saw Annemarie Coleman there the other day too. She's back to working there and is now manager of the one on Birney Ave."

Ravyn: "It's so good that she's moving up in the cooperation. You know who else is moving up in their line of work? Ryan Romanowski and Damon Strunk. They're quickly rising through the ranks of the military. So is Phil Sottile, while still wearing his aviators from our senior prom. I still hear him running around yelling "OTF". When will that boy give up."

Britt: "That is so good for them! I was at the dentist the other day, and under those bright lights, I definitely could've used a pair of aviators for myself. Oh, speaking of, did you know that Morgan Sopinski and Mariah Barber now work together?"

Ravyn: "I had no idea!"

Britt: "Morgan is now my dental hygienist and Mariah was her assistant the other day. They've become so successful!"

Ravyn: "You know who else has become successful? Alex Harris. She loved Dorney Park so much that she built a ride. Justin Copp built a sloth themed mini golf course right next to it! I think a lot of those classes in high school he was thinking up ideas for his design, so daydreaming really paid off for him in the long run!"

Ravyn: "I was there over the summer. Candice and Hannah work there now at the sunglass hut. Gabby is in the clothing shop across the street keeping an eye on those two."

Britt: "Hm, interesting."

Awkward pause

Britt: "I took my cousin to her softball game the other day. I was able to catch up with Kacey Orlowski since she's her coach."

Ravyn: "Really? What a coincidence. Matt Ellis coaches my little cousin's baseball team."

Britt: "That seems perfect for him!"

Ravyn: "It is! While I was there the other day, I saw Oscar too. He's on the National Soccer Team."

Britt: "Speaking of soccer, I heard Jake and Dakota co-designed the latest FIFA game."

Ravyn: "I heard Nelson finally got his license last month, but Sammi revoked it the other day."

Britt: "Poor Nelson, he could never catch a break! Dave Kizer was sitting outside of Taco's restaurant the other day in his police cruiser!"

Ravyn: "What happened to Taco? Wait...what was his actual name again..?"

Britt: "Good question...I'll have to ask him next time I see him at the park. I saw Mason Harris at the park playing with all of his kiddos! Mason must've taught a few of our classmates everything he knows about being a good dad!"

Ravyn: "Emily Harris was at the park the other day! She was running around with 4 labrador retrievers! Her puppy sitting service is a hit!"

Britt: "I know! She watched my pup the other day when I visited Brianna's hair salon! She did my hair for Kiana and Melvin's wedding and Alyvia did my makeup!"

Ravyn: "I always knew those two would last! Do you know if Lucy went to the wedding? I heard she's been super busy with the soap opera she stars in!"

Britt: "She was there and telling me about it! Bobby Quinlan's talk show airs around the same time on ESPN. That boy sure knows his stuff!"

Ravyn: "Speaking of that, did you hear Petey won the national spelling bee! He really came a long way! His friends would always help him study! They continuously quizzed him with spelling new words every class!"

Britt: "While all of that was happening, Tyler and Zach Warfield and Sean Wagner were writing stories! I think some of their books were even published!"

Ravyn: "I think Lacie was working on a children's book! I wonder how that's going!"

Britt: "I'll ask Harley the next time I see her, I'm sure she'd know! I think she has an advice column now! She was always a good listener when I needed her help!"

Ravyn: "That sounds like Zach Orlowski! He was always a good listener. Mrs. Janesko is his aunt so he had no other choice but to keep quiet and listen to her hoot and holler. I think he's been working at the football stadium where Lud's team plays!"

Britt: "Between games he should go watch Andrew! He plays pro tennis and he even got sponsored by a new cereal "Drew berry Crunch. I think Tyler Wolf and Steven Conway became partners and developed that brand-name!"

Ravyn: "It's crazy to think that all of these guys accomplished so much! Wait what happened to Savannah?"

Britt: "After her last show I emailed her to see what she was doing...she never got back to me; that girl is always too busy."

Ravyn: "It's been so great catching up with you! I hope you, and the rest of our senior class, continue their successful careers and make Lackawanna County "Great again."

Britt: "Same to you! Why stop at Lackawanna County? Let's just make America "great again."

Ravyn: "Okay Britt...just go home now."

History

The class history is a collection of students favorite and most memorable moments throughout their high-school careers. It ranges from varsity sports to kids just messing around in the classroom. This features various student athletic accomplishments and a lot of hilarious moments throughout high school. These are the times you should remember from your high school days. Now let's get into the real history, first we're going to start with the classes sports achievements.

Over the years our sports teams and individual players have achieved some great accomplishments. The track team has been sending kids to states for as many years as I can remember. Right now the 4 by 4 team is currently at states, this includes seniors Will Davies, Mikkell Green, Casey Holman, and Damon Strunk. And Will Davies made it to states earlier in the year but for cross-country instead. The golf team has made the playoffs the past few years led by seniors Justin Copp and Ryan Morgan. During our freshmen year the freshmen basketball team won the league along with a tournament at the end of the year. Also during our freshmen year the freshmen football team won their division. This year the varsity football team ended the season just 5 and 5 but went on to win the Eastern Conference Championship. The varsity softball team has also been tearing it up the past two years. This year they won the Lackawanna League Division III lead by seniors Kacey Orloski, Danielle Powell, and Hannah Miller. Overall, I'd say the class of 2016 has accomplished many great achievements throughout our careers in high-school. Now I'm going to pass the mic over to Kenny Kielar to talk about some of everyone's favorite high school moments. Thank you and have a good rest of your evening.

grader. One of the first memories I have is always hearing about Phil Sottile and Chris Kerrigan getting ready to battle in the bathrooms in elementary school. Once we got to ninth grade, we became the guinea pigs for laptops. I think I haven't gone a day without hearing at least once complaint about them over the past four years. I think we have brought our fair share of annoyance to Borthwick over the years as well. From his rap battles with Kerrigan, people sitting in his recycling bin, dissing students' writing, or being too happy for him. One experience I will never forget is when I was strolling out of homeroom one morning and chunks were blown all over my back courtesy of Kasey Orloski. I think everyone will forever remember Mike Bernardi for his perfect impressions of the faculty. I think we could all remember the time at lunch when Peter Mastres received a nice dose of what I believe was lemonade on his head by Morgann Sapinski. At lunch one time, Tye Sweet took his seat but his chair didn't agree and Tye just laid on the ground laughing. This year alone there has been so many memories. Joe Austin was being Joe Austin. I think he was absent more than actually being in school. Joey Petrucci and Sazia Nowshin won prom king and queen and the room erupted. If you were in gym second period monday/tuesday, you may have saw the greatest thing ever when Alex was out at home. She slid so far and everyone was on the ground laughing. My question is what is going to happen to the Kmart crew? Are they going to stay intact or disband. So many memories were made it's impossible to put them all down.

These memories will follow us when we go to college or the military when your friends may not. These years were some of the most special in our lives and I hope we all lived it the way we wanted to. Goodnight and best of luck to the class of 2016.

Good Luck Emily Reber!
