FOOTBALL

After months of uncertainty, the 2020 Riverside football team was the first team in the Lackawanna Football Conference to kick off their season. However, the 2020 season looked completely different than any other in the history of the school. From fans watching from outside of the stadium to limited access to indoor facilities to an unusual makeshift schedule, this young group rolled with the punches, led by head coach Harry Armstrong and captains Johnny Gilchrist, Justin Tigue, Tyler Hoskins & Noah Parchinski. Tallying wins against Mid Valley and sixthranked North Pocono called for some postgame dance parties led by Coach Marty. Also in the process, Quarterback Johnny Gilchrist became District II's All-Time Leading Passer, topping Lakeland's Evan Kraky.

RIVERSIDE VIKINGS

"CARDIAC KIDS"

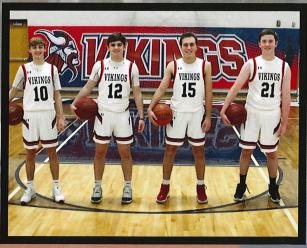

A 17-3 overall record, the boys basketball team enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in Riverside history. The Vikings began their season with a 4-1 exhibition against schools in higher classifications. In their division schedule, they finished 9-1 to claim the LACKAWANNA DIVISION 3

CHAMPIONSHIP, 1st since 2011. A penchant for the dramatic earned the team the nickname "Cardiac Kids". Tying or winning the game in the waning moments from Michael against Mid Valley, Brandon against Holy Cross, Todd against Elk Lake & Frankie against Old Forge. They truly demonstrated what it means to play as a team. One of the proudest achievements was defending their home court with a 10-0 record. Following the division championship, they earned #1 seed into the district playoffs. They defeated Lakeland in the semi finals to earn a trip to Mohegan Sun, for a 2nd straight year. They captured the District 2 AAA championship by defeating Wyoming Seminary in OT, 1st since 2011. Their season ended on a buzzer beater by Lancaster Catholic in the 1st round of the states. Brandon Reed was named Division 3 Player of the Year & Michael Rickert was selected as 1st Team All Star. Frankie Antoniacci received an Honorable Mention. Brandon Reed finished his career with 1102 points & was selected 3rd team All State, Michael Rickert became the Third Leading Scorer in Riverside History with 1351 points. Congratualtions Cardiac Kids!!

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The 2020/21 Girls Basketball team had a historic year. First, with COVID-19 still in the picture, the season was never guaranteed. When the season finally started in January, the schedule was shortened by five games. Games were played with limited fans, sometimes no fans. Players had to wear masks & temperatures were checked. However, the season was historic for other reasons!! Kylie Lavelle, a junior scored her 1000th point & Kayla Rose, a senior, hit the milestone as well. The highlight of the season was getting to play in the district championship, and yes they won the District II Class AAA Championship, the 1st since 2004! The team has 5 seniors, Alese Karpinski, Emily Taylor, Alexandra Nenish, Kayla Rose & Emily Taylor- they will be greatly missed. Over the last 4 years, they have compiled a record of 72-21. This team can not thank the support from the student sections, administration and community enough, they will forever be grateful they had a senior season! Congratulations LADY VIKES!! And CONGRATULATIONS to Coach Mekilo on his 200th win as the Lady Vikes Coach!!

CLASS PROPHECY

It's the year 2041 at Geisinger Hospital

Antonio: Hey, are you the doctor that requested the sign language interpreter?

Kayla: Yeah I am. Hang on. I feel like I know you from somewhere.

Antonio: I know! You look so familiar.

Kayla: Did you go to Riverside?

Antonio: Yeah, class of '21.. Kayla, is that you?

Kayla: Wait Teeno?

Antonio: Wow, I can't believe it's you. It's been 20 years since I saw everyone last. What have you been up to?

Kayla: I'm a physical medicine and rehabilitation physician and have been working here at Geisinger for the last 10 years now.

Antonio: Oh wow, congratulations! We had a lot of kids go into the medical field didn't we?

Kayla: Yeah, most of them work here. Merison Stecik, Alannah Weitz, and Nadia Montiero all went to Marywood together and all ended up becoming physician assistants on the 3rd floor. Mya Falcone and Indya Szydlowski are psychiatrists working all throughout the hospital and Mariah Kumor is also a neurosurgeon here. Some of them went over to Moses Taylor too.

Antonio: I know Bridgette Brown is a nurse there now. Did you hear that Bridgette and Jeffery Higgins ended up getting married? I heard he's an accountant now too working with Josh Godlewski.

Kayla: Yeah, that's crazy. High school sweethearts. Antonio: Is there anyone else over at Moses Taylor? Kayla: Aubri Harte and Emily Calder both work there. Tyler Hoskins and Amelia Smicherko are also both nurses at Moses Taylor, and I heard Bailey Cooper is their top radiologist as well. Leslie Gallagher opened up a veterinary clinic right across the street too. Antonio: I ran into Bella McKeefery the other day too

Antonio: I ran into Bella McKeefery the other day too with another client. She's one of the top orthopedic surgeons across the country. What are the other basketball girls up to?

Kayla: Well, Emily Taylor graduated from Villanova and went on to become an environmental lawyer, and Alese Karpinski is also a nurse, but she works in Bhutan

Antonio: Interesting location. Reminds me of someone. You forgot Allie Nenish though.

Kayla: Oh yeah, Allie is a lawyer down in Boston. She just became district attorney.

Antonio: I knew she did something with the law, Nichole Montiero also became a lawyer along with Grace Spisso. I think a few others went into law too, Kayla: Yeah, Mallory Gray became an FBI agent working alongside Brandon Reed on some of the toughest cases dealing with top criminals.

Antonio: Charlie Azarsky also went into criminal justice, I just ran into him at Sheetz on my way over here.

Kayla: Enough about everyone else, how are you doing? Are you living around here again?

Antonio: Yeah, I just built a new house up in Glenmaura after starting my family in Rochester. I actually hired Seth Sutton to do the roof. He owns Ritter's , Roofing now.

Kayla: I thought a few people went into construction from our class. Christian Gutierrez did some work on my house. Didn't Frankie Moran go into plumbing?

Antonio: Yeah, he actually did mine in the new house. In fact, I also hired Brenden Galonis's company to do the framework after he got his carpentry degree, and it turns out Gavin Williams runs his own electrical company after he finished that lineman training down in Georgia. I hired him and the rest of the guys for the wiring in the house.

Kayla: Oh nice, who else works with him?

Antonio: Caden Evans is his right-hand man and Ryan Visotski joined the company after a few years. I also hired Jared Singleman, Hector Maisonet and Jut (Justin Tigue) to do the HVAC, and Tommy Fontaine did my kitchen cabinets. Tried to keep it local. Kayla: That's great! Antonio: Speaking of family, how about you, do you have any kids? Kayla: Yeah, Cesar Mercado and I have 3 girls and 2 boys. My youngest just started 3rd grade and coincidentally, Lindsay Grzyboski is her teacher this year. She also had Megan Kielar for 1st grade

Antonio: Oh, that's great! What's Cesar up to?

Kayla: Well, he spent some time in Florida and realized he couldn't be without me so he came back and opened his own gym when 10x closed down.

Antonio: Very fitting. Back to what we were talking about before, I heard Kyleen Bird also went back to Riverside and took over Mr. Geise's old job with her musica education degree.

Kayla: Yeah, I'm looking forward to the kids having her. My two oldest said she was great. Antonio: Speaking of music, I was on my way over here listening to the radio and Caelan Baden's song came on. He can really play that guitar.

Kayla: Oh yeah. His new album is the best. Antonio: We had quite a few artists, didn't Jordan Jenkins do something along those lines?

Kayla: Yeah, shé and Kiara Diehl opened up tattoo shop out in Hollywood and have done tattoos on some of the top celebrities.

Antonio: Wow, that's pretty cool actually.

Maybe I'll stop in when I'm there again next.

Speaking of Hollywood, how about Nevica

Molinaro in that new movie?

Kayla: Yeah she's making it big. She's one of the top actresses in Hollywood working in the top rated movies. Worked her way up from being a PR representative to having her own. Antonio: And I'm sure you've heard Johnny Gilchrist was also really successful too. He ended up going D1 and got drafted in the first round by the Jets. Once he got noticed in college, he hired Kaylee Urso as his personal trainer as well.

Kayla: Oh yeah, I forgot that's what she we for.

Antonio: Yeah, I also heard Adrian Gonzalez was his physical therapist after that big injur a few years back.

Kayla: A lot of them are involved with the sports world. Hunter Goise is the CEO of SportsCenter and he and Zach Day are their top analysts, as I'm sure you've heard. Antonio: Of course. I look forward to seeing Geise on my TV every Sunday night just as much as you.

Kayla: I agree. Like Geise mentioned this weekend after the big Jets/Steelers game, I'm glad Johnny is still the number 1 QB after taking so much time off.

Antonio: Yeah, I guess the Jets hiring Michae Rickert as general manager this year really worked out for them. He runs the team well. And of course Todd Monahan being his financial advisor helped him stay afloat during his time off. Competition isn't easy though, John Jacob Kravitz owns the Dolphins now too.

Kayla: Yeah, I remember seeing that in the Times Tribune. Maura Sherry actually wrote the article. Antonio: What a coincidence!

Kayla: Yeah, Felicity Hoffman works for the Times as well. She just wrote an article about that new salon being opened up at Montage. Antonio: Oh yeah, isn't there someone we know opening that?

Kayla: Yeah, I heard that Anita Propes, Stefani Grande, Bianca Vega and Alanna Markert are all opening it. They all went to school for cosmetology together and stayed in touch. Speaking of staying in touch, do you still talk to Maddie Oustrich?

Antonio: Of course! Maddie actually ended up opening her club in New York City, and she hired Sara Reyes as the manager after they both got their business degrees. Funny enough, I heard Jared Singleman and Justin Tigue opened their own HVAC company together and got hired to do the ducts at the club.

Kayla: Yeah, I've been to the club. She's right by Times Square!

Antonio: Oh yeah, speaking of that I heard her real estate agent was Michael Forrester Barley, and that's how they got such a good deal. He's a big shot in the real estate industry.

Kayla: Anyone else end up working with someone together?

Antonio: Oh yeah, there's a ton.

Kayla: Like who?

Antonio: Well, I heard Halle Jones and Adam Murphy ended up getting morned. They even hired Ella Connor as their we have photographer.

Kayla: Yeah, 'same here. Turns out they opened a burger place with Halle's business degree and Murph runs it as a side job when he's not on duty as a cop. I went down there the other day and it turns out he and Brandon McDermott are actually partners on the force. I guess B-Mac decided to join after his time in the National Guard.

Antonio: Yeah, they have great food. Eric Rebillard also opened up that car shop he always wanted to open down in Dickson City. Robert Bond, Alexander Grasso, Alex Gonzalez and Austin Cole all work for him now as auto mechanics.

Kayla: I heard he also hired Om Patel after he got his mechanical engineering degree and Cayden Marsollus and Max Stephens for welding.

Antonio: Oh, that's pretty cool, anyone also end up getting into the food scene?

Kayla: Yeah, I heard Hailey Balendy ended up opening that cafe she always wanted to, and Angel Escobar cooks for the White House now. Antonio: I feel like there's someone else that I can't put my finger on.

Kayla: Oh yeah, Kelsey Howey works at the FDA for food toxicology now. I heard she's on track to be appointed as the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by President-elect Abishak Ghataney. And on that note, Abishak also just appointed Tyler Coles as the Secretary of Transport uffon. The new bullet train system was mainly put together by him.

Antonio: Wow, that's awesome! I'm so glad former President Lexa Hunt allowed foreignborn citizens to become President now. She was always one to advocate for equality. Her debates were also very interesting.

Kayla: Speaking of politics, have you talked to Maddie Aulisio?

Antonio: Yes actually, she just came here for a checkup after another broken foot. She's visiting her home for now but she actually works in the Netherlands as a U.S. diplomat like she always wanted.

Kayla: That's great, Hopefully she doesn't

Antonio Let's go back to the military stuff. I lenow ou said B-Mac joined the National Guerd, by crasn't there someone else? Kaylar y year, I just spoke to Matt Rhoades the other day who just retired from the Air space. Cross Mercado also recently retired from the army.

Antonio: Oh yeah, that's right. I also saw that Kaile McDonough was in the National Guard and she's now a fivelighter.

Kayla: We had a lot of talented people in our class didn't we?

Antonio: Oh, for sure

Kayla: Oh wow, it's already time for me to go. Antonio: Me too. I have another client soon. Before you go, we should add each other as thends on Buzz.

Kayla: Oh I just joined last week. Weren't some Riversiders part of the development team? Antonio: Yeah actually, David Wike, Alyssa Nape, Michael Reap, Alexis Vasquez Melo, and Evan Edsall all came up with the app together. They even litted Mananadjiwo Barry as the marketing litector for the app Kayla, Oly eah, I remember the Shark Tank

Shark who invested in them?

Antonio: Yeah, she's a big time entrepreneur now. She has a 75% stake in Subaru. I actually just heard that Jess Frie is her actuary now.

Maybe she's responsible for all that success.

Classic Jess Frie the "Science Frie".

Kayla: Who could forget that nickname. Those were good times.

Antonio: No doubt. Well, we should catch up again sometime. It was nice seeing you again.
Kayla: You too Teeno. I'll send you a Buzz later.
Antonio: Alright, see ya!

CLASS PROPHECY

The year is 2040 and Todd Monahan and Nevica Molinaro recinkele at Pancheros Mexican Grill.

NM: Oh my God hi handsome how are you

TM: Hey Nev! I am thriving, how's life treating you?

NM: Pretty good. I am so glad we wanted to die all those years of high school doing the Level Up Program. It allowed me to be able to graduate 2 years early which helped me to excel at work.

TM: That's Awesome! I'm really glad to hear that Nev. The good ol' Level Downers. I've been doing well at work too and I've got a family now. But that aside you really got me thinking about those high school days. So many good memories.

NM: Ohhhh yeah. Like all the things Hunter Geise. Geise Quotes of the week. Geise Food Brackets. You think Milk is still his choice food?

TM: AH that was complete bolshevik! You're telling me milk is better than any other food or drink in the whole world. That sent the entire school into an outrage, geise was lucky he made it out alive that day.

NM: Facts. But at least he made up for it with his Uptown Funk (Your Mom) music video and the Geisco Commercial.

TM: For better or for worse, GeiseBomb was really a star back in the day.

NM: Oh he was for a star in all aspects of life. Like when we played All Stars. Do you remember those games? They were always so crazy.

TM: All stars was fun. I'll never forget when we won the title senior year. The best part of the whole thing was the witty commentary by T and Lazorbeam.

NM: they were hilarious at the game. I mean of course we won our senior year. We are a class full of winners. Do remember winning boys and girls basketball districts our senior year too.

TM: yes it was an all time great memory from high school. Class of 21 really killed it in athletics that year. Whether it be the undefeated golf season, boys and girls basketball district championships, broken passing records, broken track records, thousand point scorers, all state selections, undefeated baseball season, the class of 21 did it all in athletics. Do you remember how the Riverside-Dunmore girls basketball game was sold out?

NM: How could I forget? The Students Sections for all of those games were always insane. and not only in the athletic department did our grade dominate. Do you remember how we won junior year hall decorating? Of course we all know we should've won freshman and sophomore year as well. But Toy Story is probably my favorite movie for that reason.

TM: getting robbed out of winning the previous two years made that victory extra sweet. I still talk trash whenever I see a senior or sophomore from that year.

NM: haha me too. I wish we had the opportunity to crush the underclassmen once again our senior year but you knowwww Covid. I can't believe we had to put up with that our senior year.

TM: I forgot how much the masks sucked, we powered through though and made it out better. I am happy to say that the big C is a thing of the past.

NM: Yeah, me too. I'm so glad we can do things like go to restaurants or enjoy one of the world famous Murph burgers and not fear for my life. Speaking of restaurants, do you remember the Local/Chain Restaurant bracket?

TM: haha one of the many brackets we worked on strictly during class time. Those things captivated the entire school

NM: Well of course they did. We had so many iconic ones, like Teacher Fight Brackets

TM: Another great example was the ultimate paper football bracket in Mr. Benny's 5th grade class. That started our rich paper football tradition.

NM: Oh my God, Lemoncelli hated that. We would be trying to, you know, learn and Bennie would send you boys to recruit people from class to come play. Paper football really did become a rich tradition. We played it at lunch for years after that. We even made the OPF Official Paper Football (Website).

TM: That paper football website carried us all the way to the state competition and we got to spend an entire day with our favorite gifted teacher, Insalaca

NM: Ohh boy. Do you remember when Insalaca stole the OPFs (SOPF)?

TM: oh how could I forget. She spent her time picking on the paper football players rather than catching some real criminals. We always had some kind of game to play at lunch. Senior year it was among us where the legend of Jo Jo Siwa was born.

NM: We have the entire lunchroom playing in one game. It was insane. And how could I forget about Jo Jo Siwa? What an icon. Lunch was the best. Do you remember how we would start scream-singing happy birthday to people at lunch? Or how after lunch every Friday we would host Limbo Friday with Limbo Jesus, Shane Frank. Besides lunch, a lot of great other things happened our senior year too. Do you remember the senior scavenger hunt?

TM Those Scavenger hunts were pretty wild. They were great because they allowed us to accomplish our ultimate goal which was to get Geise out of his comfort zone. I remember witnessing the first one in person, talk about a proud father moment.

NM: I think we were all proud parents for that. I mean, I was proud of Hunter for everything he did in high school. Homecoming and Prom King. What a legend! I miss prom.

TM: This session of reminiscing is just like high school, all roads lead back to Geise

NM: I mean he is "the chemist" after all. Besides the memories as a class, I think I miss high school mostly for the teachers. Do you remember Ms. Plisko's Chem Christmas Fiesta? I'm not sure how you put up with all us girls junior year.

TM: it certainly was an experience, but one that I would definitely not hesitate to have again. Riverside really did have some great teachers and people. I can't help but mention Mr. Kolessar, I mean what a guy. I had the pleasure of having him 5 times and I still feel as though that wasn't enough.

NM: You could never spend enough time with that guy. He is truly someone that puts a smile on everyone's face and genuinely cares about all of his students. Do you remember when you and Kolessar sang piano man throughout the hallway? It was a beautiful concert. When in doubt at a party, I always bust out the shopping cart. The Signature Mr. Kolessar dance move. Additionally, ever since high school one of my life mottos is "Don't Shart at the Prom."

TM: Always steer clear of those white tuxedos. Do you remember how intense those quite ball games would get? Or the Cousin Greg 2/3s stories. Moving to other parts of the faculty, how about the man the myth the legend Mr. JLAC the one and only dean of discipline and coders E state champ.

NM: That class feels like a fever dream. Do you remember when he played us kahoot and won. We were literally yelled around the room to figure out who was in first. Or do you remember when he yelled at Kelsey for spraying the freeze?

TM: By far the greatest thing that came out of that class was the impression that Teeno did. That provided endless entertainment for the faculty and students all at the expense of our beloved JLAC.

NM: Honestly. He could still do them to this day! I feel like the memories we made in our history classes were always the best. Mrs. Janesko brought us Mary Lou's Pizza Party. When we played the "clean verison" of that one song. And how could we forget 84. Or when Reedy drained an across the room shot for classwide 100% on a test in Mr Fox's. Or when Om fell out of seat in geography and then we got yelled at for laughing. And probably my favorite, the memories in Davis'. Playing basketball which led to the birth of the Silver Bullet and Cotton Swab. The "off Van Buren" shots during the BIGRON games. GeoGuesser and our main man Fiji.

TM: definitely some iconic moments happened in Davis' class. Like the Tina and Frank quizzes were unforgettable. The extra special "Vis seat" was another good one.

NM: That was hilarious. Ryan is honestly such a character. Do you remember when he got detention and almost missed graduation? That was a close call. Speaking of detentions, I feel like Kelsey got one every year of high school. Freshman year when she called lackey Justin, sophomore year giving Davis a Christmas present, junior year her and the mass media class speaking outside.

TM: haha that's a fair point. Speaking of troublemakers, do you remember The Great Wall of Marcellus in Ms. Temples' class. Or how about the New York Times bestselling book Big Ron in the Doghouse. It was a true literary classic.

NM: I feel like he always found himself in the dog house. Speaking of a Geise in the dog house, do you remember when he almost blew up the chem lab or when he broke the scale in bio?

TM: things like that seemed to just follow Geise. He was also a frequent flyer on the infamous pause list.

NM: that list still makes me laugh to this day. Yeah he definitely did some questionable things, like study for home etc on a Saturday night when Penn State was in the championship.

TM: Mr Prall's classes also held some intense memories. Like the rap god himself, PMaster Funk.

NM: PMaster funk was an icon. Do you remember Evan Edsall's B-b-bonus Facts Health slideshow presentation.

TM: How could I forget? All those crazy things were definitely memorable, like the class of 21 itself. We left a lasting impact on Riverside and made it a better place. At the end of the day that's what matters most.

NM: Yeah you're right. The memories we made there are truly like no other. Lam so thankful for every second of them. I will forever sing our alma mater with pride but only the "Paul Revere" version of course.

Lindsay,

We are so proud of your accomplishments and the strong, independent woman you've become. You have all you need for the journey ahead...faith in God, intelligence, strength, determination, creativity along with endless love and support from your family.

We have been truly blessed to have a daughter and sister like you.

Always be happy. Never stop praying. Give thanks whatever the circumstances. That is what God wants for you in Christ Jesus. 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18

A special thank you to The 2021 Yearbook Staff: Nevica Molinaro & Mallory Gray.....This book has been worked on tirelessly and with much love from both of these students. Without them this book of memories, of the class of 2021, would not have been possible! I could not have had a better team.
